WANT TROOPS TO STAY.

CARSON, Nev., Jan. 31—The much discussed and often delayed resolution asking the President to retain the troops in Goldfield until May 1, came up in the committee of the whole in the Assembly this morning. It was recommended that the message be amended to read April 1. It is proposed to adopt the resolution and put it up to the judgment of the Senate whether the President be asked this morning that it will take six weeks to organize the Nevada police force. A resolution was adopted by both Houses to adjourn sine die at 12 o'clock on Saturday.

The Claverdon Reloaded and Ready for Sea.

THE ALLIANCE IS DUE TODAY

The Costa Rica, Roanoke, Armen and Sully go to Sea—The Armeria Returns from Coos Bay—The Gasoline Schooner Evie In—Notes.

The bar is on its good behavior these days. Yesterday it was smooth all day, with clear weather. The lowest velocity of the wind was five miles at 8 o'clock, while the greatest was 10 miles at noon. Towards evening the wind died down to eight miles. There was no difficulty for any of the vessels to cross in or out.

The French bark Armen was towed to sea at 9:30 a. m.

The Costa Rica arrived down from Portland at 11:30 Thursday night and left for San Francisco at 7:40 a. m. yesterday.

The French bark Sully crossed out to sea yesterday morning at 9:30.

The Roanoke left out for San Francisco and San Pedro, yesterday morning at 7:40. She had a good cargo and a fair list of passengers.

The lighthouse tender Armeria returned from Coos Bay yesterday.

Having concluded the reloading of the Claverdon, the steamer Elmore, having in tow the barge Klickitat, left up for Portland last evening. The Claverdon is now ready for sea and will leave out at the first opportunity.

The steamer Minnie E. Kelton will be put on the run between San Francisco and Tillamook and will carry freight and passengers. She is a vessel of 100 tons and has accommodations for 40 passengers. It is thought that the running of this steamer will divert much business from Portland to San Francisco.

The British bark Amazon will leave Portland this morning, loaded with grain for Europe.

The schooner Alvena sailed from Redondo on January 26th for the Columbia River.

The lighthouse tender Columbine will probably go to Portland today.

The Alliance sailed from Coos Bay at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and is due here this forenoon.

The Norwegian steamer Haldis is loading lumber at Rainier for La Boca, Panama.

The gasoline schooner Corlor will soon be placed on the run between Portland and Yaquina Bay. She is a small vessel of but seventy tons capacity, and will be used mostly to carry supplies to the mills of the Waldport Lumber Co., at Alsea, and will bring back farm produce.

The steamer Asuncion arrived at Port Harford on Thursday, from Portland.

The steamer Tallac, from the Columbia arrived at San Francisco, yesterday.

One of the most fruitful sources of news of thrilling experiences, is a gathering of seafaring men. The experiences that many of them go through would turn the average man's hair gray in the time it takes them to laugh at the "little incident." The marine reporter's hair is not yet gray but its rigidity was heightened by a story he heard yesterday in which Capt. Reed, of the Wallula, figured. "Speaking of experience on the bar," said one of the pilots, "they talk of captains and pilots not crossing when it's rough. Bah! I was at the dock one day when the news was brought to Capt. Reed that a three-master was outside and wanted to get in. Reed had steam up on the Wallula, and jumping aboard he gave one blast and, ringing full speed ahead, started for her. When he reached the bar he found it pretty rough. We were watching him through the glass and saw him go through what I would call—well, he had a time of it all right. He fastened to the jammer and started in. Coming over, that boat rolled until her yards touched on either side, still Reed was tugging at her. Finally a whopper caught her, and we saw her turn completely over, righting herself, as we learned after, without losing even a tin cup." "Say, captain," asked the inquisitive reporter, "how many feet of water were there on the bar at that time?" "Oh, about 18 feet," answered the veracious sea dog. "How in the world could a vessel turn completely over in 18 feet of water? Why her masts would strike the bottom," urged the reporter. "Young man," said the narrator, "You're a regular inquisitive Clarence, but I'll explain to you: You see when the skipper saw that she was going over he ordered the masts taken in and the job was done in time to save her." The news-gatherer gasped, reeled to the door and feebly said: "Say, Cap., tell that to a Telegram reporter."

The gasoline schooner Evie arrived in yesterday morning. She came from points along the Oregon coast with canned salmon for S. Elmore & Co.

CHINESE NEW YEAR.

Opening of the Festive Season With Much Noise and Hilarity.

At midnight last night the Chinese New Year was ushered in by our Celestial population. Fire crackers galore were exploded and preparations for a good time, today, were being made all evening.

Today is the Chinese new year, the great day of the year and it will be fittingly celebrated. The festivities will not assume the proportions of other years, owing to the fact that money is not as plentiful as usual with the Chinese, who, like many of the white folks, are unemployed and have made little during the fishing season. Today will be the one day of the celebration and will be devoted to a general good time, no business being done. After today, however, business will go on as usual, though the usual visiting, and celebrating, will continue for a time, dependant upon the amount of money the celebrator has to spend. A prominent Chinese merchant said, last night, that about four days will see the end, and that on Tuesday night, if weather conditions are good, the final send off of fire crackers will occur. If Tuesday night is not fair the noise will be postponed until Wednesday night and the joyous, and it might be said, noisy season will close.

It has been generally understood among the white people that at this season carte blanche is extended to the public to enter and inspect all parts of the Chinese quarter and advantage has been taken of the supposed freedom offered. The Chinese are glad to have their white friends call on them, but would rather that strangers would not intrude on their privacy as has been done in the past, partly through the mistaken idea of many, regarding "open house," and partly through idle curiosity. All are welcome to visit the stores but the line is drawn at private apartments. Chinatown contains many intelligent Chinamen, who speak English well and who will explain with pleasure the different features of the celebration.

NO MORE CATARRH.

T. F. Laurin Will Not Allow it to Exist in Astoria.

"There will be no more catarrh in Astoria," says T. F. Laurin, "unless people fail to follow the law of common."

T. F. Laurin makes this statement because of the great success that has followed the use of Hyomei in the treatment of catarrhal troubles. So positive is this treatment in quick relief and permanent cure that he sells it under an absolute guarantee to refund the money if it does not do all that is claimed for it.

It follows nature's plan in curing disease of the throat and lungs by bringing healing medication right to the very spot where the disease germs exist. With this treatment, health-giving oils and balsams are breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, so that every breath you take while using Hyomei is a breath of healing air. It kills all catarrhal germs and prevents their growth, so that the cure is thorough and permanent.

Remember that Hyomei is sold under a guarantee to cost nothing unless it cures. If you have any catarrhal trouble, you should take advantage of T. F. Laurin's liberal offer.

It is encouraging that the railway men have reached the stage where they are willing to talk it over with the President. A while ago, they were defiant.
